

SARASOTA INTERNATIONAL DESIGN SUMMIT 2006

TRANSFORMING PEOPLE, PLACES & PRODUCTS

Ryan Armbruster, MHA

Director, SPARC Innovation Program, Mayo Clinic

KEYNOTE: October 10, 2006

Ryan Armbruster is Director, Operations and Design, for Mayo Clinic's SPARC Innovation Program. SPARC is a program designed to deliver research and development capabilities for healthcare delivery at Mayo Clinic. These capabilities include a unique methodology, resources and laboratory for health services innovation. In addition, Ryan also spends his time identifying and establishing collaborative relationships with internal and external organizations and championing for the overall value of service design.

Prior to joining Mayo Clinic, Ryan worked in management consulting with Deloitte Consulting and was involved in developing and launching a startup company, Meridian Golf. He holds a Masters in Healthcare Administration with an emphasis in New Product Design and Business Development from the Carlson School of Management at the University of Minnesota.

Resource Links:

Mayo Clinic

Fast Company feature

Steel Case: SPARC Case Study

Business Week feature

SARASOTA INTERNATIONAL DESIGN SUMMIT

October 9-11, 2006

www.sarasotadesignsummit.com